

the value of failure

It's odd

but I've found that my failures are my greatest inner successes.

My outward successes make me stupid blind
and arrogant.

My failures
wake me up.

And help me see
and care about
what is really important.

About who I really am
and
who the people around me really are.

And about what is worth doing
and
what is not worth doing.

Bill Eberle 2003

© 2003 William C. Eberle